Information About Military Barracks at Szczecin.

The Polish Motorized Infantry Barracks are located ²in ~~the~~ ^{Street} Mickiewicz/ⁱⁿ Szczecin. The barracks occupy 8 - 10 blocks. The barracks site is surrounded by iron railing. Sentries guard the entrance.

Opposite these barracks are the Soviet Motorized Infantry Barracks, which also occupy 8 - 10 blocks, and ^{are} fenced off in the same manner. In addition to the sentries posted near the entrance gate to the premises, the barracks are guarded by soldiers walking along the fence on patrol duty.

In ~~the~~ Ku Sloncu Street in Szczecin are ~~the~~ barracks for some Polish Antiaircraft Artillery units. These barracks occupy approximately 20 blocks.

Along the north side of the Szczecin - Tanowo highway, midway between Szczecin and Tanowo, there are some camouflaged, subterranean shelters. They are at a distance of 100 - 150 meters from the highway.

observed 6 shelters. The distance between shelters is approximately 150 meters. Each shelter is composed of: an entrance with a trap door; a small vestibule with a bench for two persons; a room, 4 x 3 meters in area, with a trestle for guns, a strap on which to hang the automatic pistols, and benches which seat 5 persons each. In some shelters, there was a small table in front of the bench. On the other side of the staircase, there is a narrow exit passage with a small flight of steps and a trap door. In this area

Excursion Along the Coast.

[] along the coast from Miedzydroje to Gdansk [] The entire coastline is raked, and guarded by observation towers, which are manned by WOP (Frontier Guard) units, except for the stretches occupied by the public beaches.

25X1

Half way between Mrzezyno and Rewal is the Antiaircraft Artillery Practice Range [] batteries of 4 guns, and guns of 8.5 and smaller caliber. Along the shore from Mrzezyno to Kolobrzeg, the patrol beats are spaced 1 - 3 kilometers apart, according to the character of the coastline; for the principle of maintaining visual contact []

At a distance of approximately one kilometer from the buildings of the port of Kolobrzeg, to the west, are the wooden fortifications of the Polish Naval Artillery. The caliber of the guns []

The Engineers' units are stationed in the forest east of Uniescie (Uniesty), within a 0.5-kilometer range of the town. One kilometer from there is the airfield for Polish jet planes.

East of Darlowo, within 1.5 kilometers of the town, light fortifications are under construction. For certain parts, prefabricated concrete construction is used. This is a narrow strip of land, one kilometer long, along the edge of the water.

Between Jaroslawiec and Ustka are the artillery practice ranges, some assault tanks, and motorized guns. The practice ranges are used by both the Polish and the Soviet forces. Within 2 kilometers of the lighthouse on the shore of Lake Leba is a light-colored, two-story building with a tower and a stationary antenna. It may be seen from land, but it is not visible from offshore, because it is situated on the slope of the hill.

Three kilometers east of Jastrzebia Gora, fortifications are under construction along the shore, on a strip of land: approximately 700 meters wide, and approximately 4 kilometers long. On this stretch, they are blasting the rocky shore with dynamite. A 10-meter high wooden wall surrounds the area. Signs posted in the area warn that trespassing and loitering near the enclosure are forbidden. The work is being done by the men in the detachment.

The military section of the port of Wladyslawowon is not accessible. The peninsula of Hel is accessible, and passage on the ¹road is unrestricted. On the other hand, road travel is restricted to the highway from Wladyslawowo to Kuznice. Farther on, the highway is closed to private traffic. The reason for this freedom of movement: train passengers are unable to see military installations from the windows because of the woody terrain.
